

SILENT FILM

FRIDAY

SEPTEMBER 14th AT 7:30PM

John Baratta has once again composed an organ score to accompany a silent movie in Grace Lutheran Church. He will play to the 1927 comedy “COLLEGE” starring Buster Keaton.

The movie is approximately an hour long; however, the time will fly by as you watch the movie all while John is playing the organ.

A brief description of the film:

“Brilliant in his studies and dismissive of athletics, Ronald (Buster Keaton) finishes high school at the top of his class. But in college his uptight attitude doesn’t win him any points with his sports-loving classmates and pretty coed Mary (Anne Cornwall) ignores him in favor of brutish jock Jeff (Harold Goodwin). Hoping to impress Mary, Ronald makes a buffoon of himself at every sport imaginable, usually at Jeff’s hand. But Ronald gets a final shot at glory in a big rowing race.”

Admission is a free will offering.
